Our Summer Conferences; First To Convene June 8 To Continue Thru August

NORTHFIELD STUDENT CONFERENCE	JUNE 8-15
NORTHFIELD GIRLS' CONFERENCE	JUNE 22-29
NORTHFIELD MISSIONARY CONFERENCE	JULY 6-14
NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION	JULY 14-25
MASS. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONFERENCE	JULY 27-AUGUST 3
WESTMINSTER CHOIR SUMMER SCHOOL	JULY 28-AUGUST 17
NORTHFIELD GENERAL CONFERENCE	AUGUST 1-17
UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE	AUGUST 17-24

During the summer of 1880 D. L. Moody issued an invitation to "all ministers and laymen, and those women who are helpers and laborers together with us in the Kingdom" to join him in a period of "waiting upon Him for a fresh anointment of power from on high." This was the first Northfield Conference; indeed the first religious conference of its type, and the forerunner and pattern of many similar gatherings now held annually throughout the Christian world.

Northfield's fifty-sixth conference season will be distinguished by two notable additions to the program: the Student Conference and the United Presbyterian Youth Conference.

Three of the eight conferences will make use of the Mount Hermon campus this year, the Student Conference and the Westminster Choir School holding their sessions there and the Youth Conference using it for those who cannot be accommodated at Northfield.

Outstanding speakers will be heard at all the Conferences and special events of more than passing interest will make the season a notable one. Here are just a few of the reasons for spending the entire summer at Northfield: Northfield Seminary and Mount Hermon commencements and the fiftieth anniversary of the Student Conference and Student Volunteer Movement in June; opportunity to hear the foremost leaders of world missions in July; the third annual Laymen's Conference under John R. Mott, the second Northfield Festival of Music with Dr. John Finley Williamson and the opportunity to hear the leading British and American moulders of Christian thought and activity in August.

Add to these the fact that here you will find all the facilities for pleasurable and profitable vacationing and you have the reason for Northfield's being the summer haven of thousands of Christian individuals and families.

"Vets" Remembered; Memorial Exercises And Parade Held

Memorial Day was fittingly observed here with a parade of Patriotic Societies and children of the Public Schools. It was marked by the fact that it was the first observance without a member of the Grand Army of the Republic in attendance. Mr. A. W. Wheeler the last surviving member of the G. A. R. having passed to his reward since last Memorial Day. In the whole nation there are only about 4500 veterans surviving now and the ranks are rapidly being depleted.

The parade here assembled at the town hall and moved promptly at nine o'clock up Main St., headed by Commander Sidney Given of the American Legion, as Marshal and with that splendid organization, the Greenfield High School band leading the marchers. Many of our citizens turned out to witness the procession which marched to Alexander hall under the inspiring music of the band, there to halt while the G. A. R. Memorial tablet was decorated. The procession then wended its way to the Center Cemetery where the graves were decorated and delegations despatched to the other cemeteries where lie the soldier dead of all wars to decorate their graves.

Returning to the town hall the public exercises took place with Commander William G. Slate of the Sons of Union Veterans presiding. Seated on the stage were the representatives of other patriotic societies, the Selectmen, clergymen and the orator of the day. The program included the reading of John A. Logan's order by Commander Slate, the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Charles Stevens, and the reading of Northfield's Roll of Honor by Commander Given of the American Legion. The oration of Reverend H. F. Randolph, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church at Greenfield, was listened to with rapt attention as it was filled with patriotic fervor and admonition to all to continue to serve the nation and its people. The children of the schools had a part in the exercises and their program displayed a real earnestness of purpose in the spirit of the day.

With the singing of America by the audience and the benediction by the Reverend W. Stanley Carne the meeting adjourned and thus ended the observance of another Memorial Day in Northfield.

Tax Rate Named; $33.00 Per $1000; Less Than Last Year

The tax rate for the town of Northfield has been fixed for $33 per $1000 and is a drop of $2.00 from the rate of last year 1935 which was $35. In 1934 the rate was $30 per $1000. Although the returns from the State has decreased, local economies has helped in the bettering of the rate this year and it will be appreciated by every taxpayer.

See H. M. S. Pinafore To Be Big Event

An enthusiastic and appreciative audience greeted H. M. S. Pinafore at Camp Hall, Mount Hermon, Saturday night in a performance preliminary to the public showing at the Northfield Auditorium tomorrow night. The Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, with the members of the Mount Hermon Glee Club and the Estey Chorus of Northfield Seminary supplying the talent, was under the direction of Melvin I. Gallagher, choral director of the Northfield Schools, as conductor, and Robert VanB. Burdick of Mount Hermon School as the dramatic director. An unusual feature of the performance was an off-stage chorus of 60 voices seated in front of the stage, acting virtually as a vocal orchestra supplementing the 28-piece instrumental orchestra also seated in front of the stage.

The stage setting, scenery, and most of the costumes were prepared by Northfield Schools' students and were the cause of much favorable comment. The scenery was particularly realistic.

The part of the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. first Lord of the Admiralty, was admirably taken by George Davidson of Manchester, Ct. His rendition of "When I Was A Lad" was one of the high spots of the performance. Other leading parts, all of which were well played were as follows: Capt. Corcoran, Ralph A. Lyon of Naugatuck, Ct.; Ralph Backstraw, William R. Fiske of Byron, N. Y.; Dick Deadeye, Robert G. Van Peursem of Persia; Josephine, Elizabeth Bernheim of Southbridge; Hebe, Jean McLaren of Springfield; and Buttercup, Colena Leach of Willimantic, Ct. The cast including the off-stage chorus and orchestra numbered more than 100 students. Among the young people included in this number are Lawrence L. Durgin and Ruth-Elizabeth Field.

Moody Centenary Comes Next Year

The founder of the Northfield Schools and Conferences was born February 5, 1837 in a small house on the edge of, what is now, the Northfield Seminary campus. Round Top, a stone's throw from the house of his birth, is Mr. Moody's last resting place. Probably few have found the end of life's journey so close to where it began, but even fewer have made such important and lasting contribution to the world.

It is to commemorate these contributions and the man who made them that Northfield will observe the 100th anniversary of Mr. Moody's birth during the period between February 5, 1937 and the end of the 1937 Conference season. Centenary Committees are now being formed under the leadership of Dr. John R. Mott as chairman of the Sponsoring Committee and Dr. John McDowell as chairman of the Executive Committee. Albert E. Roberts, executive secretary of The Northfield Schools is secretary of the committee on arrangements.

Northfield Conference Plans Announced

The General Conference dates are announced for August 1 to 17 inclusive and the committee in charge consisting of Paul D. Moody, Wilfrid W. Fry, David R. Porter, John R. Mott, and Luther W. Weigle, have issued the following call:

The first Conference for Christian Workers was established in 1880 by D. L. Moody. It has always sought to promote the glory of God, a knowledge of His word, the work of Jesus Christ, His Son, and an extension of His reign in the hearts and lives of men. Amid changed conditions in the world and under other leaders than those who have gone to their reward, it now seeks no other ends. Again are invited all who can unite with the same earnest desire and conviction. Emphases and phraseology may change but the great basic truths do not change—the love and the will of God and the depth of human need. Here, in an environment hallowed by prayer, by blessed memories, by mighty traditions and by commanding visions, God's children may enter into deep experiences of spiritual realization and spiritual renewal and thus be prepared for life's struggles and the ultimate victory when the Kingdoms of this world shall become the Kingdoms of God and of His Christ.

New Tea Tent On Seminary Grounds

The construction of a new "Tea Tent" is rapidly approaching completion on the Seminary campus. It is located between Betsey Moody cottage and Westons and is very convenient to the Auditorium. It is a very attractively constructed building and far more inviting than the old structure which was taken down last fall. As in former years, Mr. S. E. Walker will have full charge and will man the social and refreshment stand with an efficient corps of assistants. Those attending the Conferences will appreciate this effort of the Schools' Trustees to serve them.

Seminary Alumnae Day

More than 300 Seminary alumnae are expected to attend alumnae day Saturday. The program will open at 9:30 with the annual meeting of the alumnae association which will be followed by the alumnae luncheon at 12:30 in Skinner Gymnasium. ### Hermon Class of '91 Holds A Reunion

Saturday the day was spent at Hermon and in the evening a banquet was held at the Northfield Hotel. On Sunday the entire body attended Chapel exercises when Rev. A. P. Pratt of the Second Congregational church was the preacher. ### The Franklin County S. P. C. C. Starts Its Campaign

The Franklin County S. P. C. C. has inaugurated a campaign in the county for funds in support of its work for the coming year. It seeks to raise $3700. Mrs. W. Herbert Nichols is President of the organization. The society has done a splendid work in the past and its reports are always of much interest.

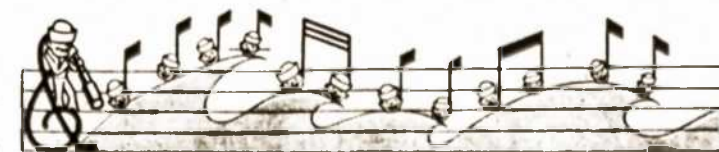

Mrs. Fred A. Holton of Highland avenue who is one of the Directors of the society will have charge of the solicitation in Northfield and any contributions may be sent to her from our residents. Greenfield will be allotted $2000 of the sum required and the remainder of the county should provide $1700.

Was Given Cup For Thirty Years' Service

For thirty years Mr. S. E. Walker has represented the Great American Insurance company of New York as its representative in Northfield and he has written many thousands of dollars worth of insurance in that time for the protection of the people of the town. The company in recognition of that service has presented to Mr. Walker a suitably engraved silver pitcher bearing his name and date. The remembrance came by express last week Thursday.

Lovers' Lane Passes With the Construction Of A New Highway

With the construction of the new highway from Winchester to Northfield as the direct thru route to the North by the State of New Hampshire that portion of the road from Winchester St., across the bridge and past the old mill along the wooded bank of the brook with its moss covered rocks, its tumbling waters will be no more the romantic spot that characterized it to both young and old in Northfield. Construction has actually begun, a wide swath has been cut along the hillside and many trees have fallen, the old mill has been razed and the course of the stream has been changed by the digging for a distance of a new channel. The old primitive place will soon put on a modernistic appearance and through the quiet gorge of former years will rush along the hurry of traffic of a modern civilization. Today the huge machinery is handling rock and dirt in tremendous quantities blasting its way thru to level off the high ground and to fill in the hollows and ravines. Today the sight-seer who visits the place may be filled with awe at the tremendous activity but to those idealists of the primitive, to those romantic souls who have trudged up from Northfield in the past years, there can be only real disappointment—Lovers' Retreat is gone.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of Northfield Farms held their regular social gathering last week Wednesday at the Library. Cards were played and refreshments served.

Homemakers' day is Tuesday, June 9, at the Grange hall, Greenfield. Miss Mary Sue Wigley of Dawson, Ala., and Mrs. William Dwight of Holyoke, will be the speakers. The meeting will be from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Local residents were uncomfortable this week when the warmer weather of the spring replaced the cold days and frosts which have ruined many early gardens. Farmers complain that it has been too dry for spring weather and state that a heavy rain is needed to hasten spring plants.

Two crews of men, one from the State and the other PWA, are engaged in rip-rapping the west abutment of Bennet Meadow bridge to protect it from the ravages of high water. Much stone is being used.

$15.00 An Acre For Soil Conservation

The farmers of Franklin county who divert acreage from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops will have an average rate this year of $15.50 an acre, it was announced by federal authorities. The rates are adjusted as a part of this year's agricultural conservation program.

The rate of the county is arrived at by comparing the productivity of each farm with that of the entire county. Farmers will receive the payments for each acre which they divert to soil-conserving crops, up to 15 per cent of their base acreage of soil-depleting crops. These payments will apply to all crops except tobacco, payments for the latter being adjusted according to the kind of tobacco and average yield per acre.

According to Harry Koch, assistant soil conservation agent, a total of 350 farmers have filed work sheets listing the extent of their last year's crops, hoping to be eligible for payments in the fall.

The Westminster

"Shear Nonsense"

Willie: Pa, what is a stump speaker?

Pa: A politician who pours banana oil on troubled voters.

"It may be cruel to tell you, but at the party last night your sister promised to become my wife. Will you forgive me for taking her away?"

"Forgive you? Why, man, that's what the party was for."

Till-Bits.

A none-too-well-prepared applicant for a civil service appointment found the following question on his examination paper: "How near is the moon to the earth?"

He replied: "Not near enough to bother me in my work, if I get this job."

She: I never could see why they always call a boat a 'she.'

He: Then I guess you never tried to steer one.

Nan: I wouldn't marry the best man living.

Dan: Well, I wasn't asking you to.

A lecturer had been describing some of the sights he had seen abroad. "There are some spectacles, that one never forgets."

"I wish you would tell me where I can get a pair," exclaimed an old lady in the audience. "I am always forgetting mine."

Roamin' Roads

As I drive the concrete road
I find I've very often slowed
—Because a sign said so—
While others gaily roll along
Passing warnings with a song
—Some day they'll be dead, too!

For several years now, columnists and professional jokesters have had fun making "wise-cracks" about the sign so frequently seen along our highways—men at work. The fun was even added to when our neighbors in Vermont changed—perhaps in response to the jibes—their signs to read "equipment at work." But whatever the jokes we may make about these signs, it is no laughing matter to assume, as some of our Bay State drivers seem to do, that the highway department puts them up solely for the amusement of the passible public. Where highway repairmen have to work in the middle of a road, they need all the protection that warning signs can give. On the other hand, the Roamer and his friends have frequently come upon "men at work" or "slow" signs indicating repairs ahead, to find not only nobody working but no sign of their having done so for some time—apparently somebody just forgot to pick up the sign.

Unfortunately for public safety, after a few instances like that some drivers get so they don't believe in any signs—like the one we met yesterday on Route 20, somewhere in Wayland, who came gunning around the corner, past a warning sign with no apparent intention of slowing up at all, until he suddenly realized that half the highway was blocked off for repairs, and the Roamer's and two other cars were legitimately passing in the opposite direction. It's our guess if his "OK" sticker hadn't really meant what it said somebody would have been in the hospital.

It seems to us that the state an dlocal highway men have a very definite responsibility to see that the warning signs they erect mean what they say, and that when the need for them is past the signs are promptly removed. When that's done, all of us can have confidence that when we are bowling along on the concrete and see signs like "soft shoulders" or "shoulders under repair," we'll know that the condition still exists and drive accordingly, and not feel that perhaps the job was cleaned up a month before.

And why not, when half the width of a road is to be resurfaced, include the warning sign "one-way traffic"? "Men at work" in such a place, while true, doesn't tell the whole story and sometimes a half truth is as bad as none. Is it asking too much that our warning signs should mean what they say, and say all that they should mean? When that's the case there'd be logic in a drive to make all operators believe in signs and act accordingly.

"Don't you think the water is rather hard?"
"Possibly—you see it rains quite hard here."

Travelers Checks for Travelers Risks

If you are planning a trip for your summer vacation, your first thought should be for relaxation and enjoyment during that period. Loss or theft of your money can do much to destroy the pleasures you have so eagerly anticipated.

Instead of the risky practice of carrying around large sums in actual cash, or the embarrassment of attempting to cash personal checks away from home, we suggest the use of travelers checks. They are economical, safe, and readily acceptable anywhere. Furthermore, if lost or stolen a refund may be obtained.

Let us supply you with these convenient checks before starting the long-awaited trip.

Heavy, Heavy, What Hangs Over?

"The destructive weather force beats constantly against your home."

By LYNN HARDESTY

IMAGINE the newspaper headlines if the weather of an average year struck, full force, in the space of twenty-four hours! Imagine the blazing, tropic heat, the torrential floods, the snow. With traffic halted, homes and buildings ruined — the damage mounting to millions — people would be appalled. They would rush to save lives, to salvage homes, to rebuild.

Yet damage just as great is allowed to pile up, little by little, every day. And few of us pay any attention to it — much less take any steps to protect our property against the destructive onslaught.

The damage weather does to unprotected property each year costs property owners hundreds of millions of dollars. Millions that could be saved, if homes and stores and factories were adequately protected with paint.

But let's talk just about homes. Moisture, filtering into wood and brick, causes a structure to disintegrate, disfigures walls and ceilings, causes plaster to fall. A spot of rust, undetected, eats cancer-like into metal — ruins pipes and flashings. A dried-out shingle curls, is pried from its niche by the wind and blown away, leaving an entrance-way for weather damage.

On the face of things, these small happenings seem inconsequential — unimportant. Yet in the aggregate they cause just as much damage as the more dramatic floods and tornadoes.

Sometimes it takes expert knowledge of weatherways to detect these unobtrusive warning signals, but the skilled eye of the painter who is accustomed to sealing houses against the elements, can read the code at a glance.

Take the roof, for instance. A painter can best determine its state of weather-resistance.

If you have a shingle roof that hasn't had a protective coating in several years, it may need attention.

Roofs that are covered with saturated felt and then coated with bituminous material should be checked up regularly. As this type of roofing will dry out and crack, it's important to renew the bituminous outer coating before the felt begins to rot. Such a coating insures each 100 square feet of roof for a few cents a year.

Built-up roofs — those that are composed of several layers of felt and bitumen — require the same renewal of their softness.

Bituminous coatings may also be used to extend the life of sheet metal roofing.

If you have a stucco or brick house, there is still another way that moisture can bedevil your pocketbook. Stucco and brick — unless they are treated with a water-proof coating, are prone to absorb moisture. Naturally this makes a house damp and necessitates additional fuel to counteract it. Dampness is also apt to affect the health of those who live there and doctor bills may result.

There are two ways of water-proofing stucco and brick. One is by applying a clear, colorless liquid the other is to use a color coating. Brick is attractive when painted in almost any color that your preference dictates — cream yellow, white, buff, gray, green. Stucco lends itself especially to the more unusual color schemes which are so popular in Florida and the Southwest.

It is wise to keep in mind the fact that qualities which make paint serviceable don't always show at first sight. Character in paint, like character in a person, shows up with age. Interior paint is not sturdy enough to ward off the weather. As the cost of applying paint represents over two thirds of the cost of a paint job, it isn't wisdom to try to save a few dollars in the cost of the materials used.

And here, incidentally, is something you'll be interested to know. Now you can have both interior and exterior painting done when the need for it appears and have the payments spread over a period of months. This new time payment plan is a boon for the householder who likes to fit all expenses into a monthly budget without dipping into savings.

Don't neglect the protection of your home. While a year's weather won't strike within twenty-four hours, the destructive, insidious force hovers constantly above your property. Safeguard your home against it — beautify it at the same time.

With plant located at 37 Davis St., Greenfield, Phone 6550, is headquarters for the motorists of Greenfield and these communities rendering a first-class service in wheel alignment, axle and frame straightening, being equipped with the most accurate system for eliminating shimmy, hard steering, tire wear, featuring the "BEAR" Cold Process system of axle and frame straightening.

For the maximum ease of operation as well as economy, the writer advises motorists to avail themselves of the service offered by A. J. and J. A. A true check-up on wheel alignment may be had by the use of the "BEAR" equipment, which is so constructed that the check-up followed by whatever adjustment is called for on the DIAL which registers accurately all according to FACTORY SPECIFICATIONS assuring the elimination of guess work.

Another feature of the service offered here is the "BEAR" system of straightening axles and frames. "COLD"—Speedy Spring Service by Experts.

Bank Insurance

"The Massachusetts system of Savings Bank Life Insurance has again attracted national attention," says Deputy Commissioner Judd Dewey at the State House. A new book by Professor Edward Berman of the Department of Economics of the University of Illinois, compares the operations of the Massachusetts system and the companies. The names of 15 of the largest companies are given and comparisons made of the operation of what the author describes as "three different systems of life insurance" namely, ordinary life insurance, industrial or weekly premium insurance, and the Savings Bank Life Insurance system of Massachusetts.

The companies vary, some being better in one regard and some in another but the Massachusetts system of Savings Bank Life Insurance in every comparison stands at the top of the list, with what the author describes as "a perfect score."

Less Auto Deaths

Four of the victims were pedestrians and nine were occupants of automobiles. A total of 100 operators were convicted last week of driving while under the influence of liquor, five more than in the preceding week. Of these, only four were committed to jail. Six were convicted of this offense for the second time within six years, of whom three appealed jail sentences and three were committed to jail.

Gold Headed Cane
Moody Found Costly

Moody's sense of the fitness of things was recalled during the Thirtieth Annual Founder's Week Conference last February, which opened a two-year celebration of the D. L. Moody Centenary and Moody Bible Institute Jubilee, on the program of which twenty-five invited speakers participated.

Mr. Moody was once asked if he carried a gold headed cane. The evangelist replied:

"I would cut a nice figure coming into the inquiry meeting tonight with a gold headed cane. I think the inquirers would be looking more at the cane than listening to me."

"A good while ago I was down in the South, and a delegation waited on me and presented me with such a cane. I soon found myself being charged extra at the hotels, and the porters, newsboys, and bootblacks were charging about double. I hurried back to Chicago for fear I would run out of money, put the cane in the closet, and have never carried it since."

Bishop Huntington, of the diocese of Central New York, once went to Northfield to seek an interview with Mr. Moody. The Bishop wrote this interesting note about that meeting:

"When I reached there I found him pitching off a load of oats in the barn. In a serious and candid talk, under a tree in the yard, he said some things which I have recalled and repeated many times."

Moody, the great evangelist, was more familiar with a pitchfork than he was with a gold headed cane.

Many Will Attend Student Conference

The Mount Hermon campus will be a busy spot on Monday with the seniors departing soon after the commencement exercises and delegates to the Northfield Student Conference arriving for the opening session in the evening. This conference which is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its founding at Northfield, opens what will probably be the largest Northfield conference season in many years. Three of the eight conferences will be held in whole or in part on the Mount Hermon campus and one, the United Presbyterian Youth Convention, will probably be the largest gathering within the memory of any of those now actively connected with the conference management.

The program for the Student Conference will include a series of addresses in the morning and evening with study groups and periods of recreation in between. Prof. John Macmurray, the Seminary commencement speaker, will deliver the first four morning addresses on his interpretation of the Christian faith for modern times. The evening addresses will deal with contemporary issues such as world peace, social change, and the world out-reach of the Christian faith. The last three days will have particular reference to the anniversary aspects of the program and Dr. Robert E. Speer, Dr. Sherwood Eddy, and others will speak both of the accomplishments through the years and the unfinished task before this great organization. The closing service of the conference will be held Sunday evening, June 14, on Round Top.

EDITORIAL

Northfield lies in the beautiful scenic Connecticut River valley, midway between Albany and Boston, close to the geographical center of New England. The White Mountains of New Hampshire, the Green Mountains of Vermont, the Berkshire and Franklin Hills of Massachusetts surround this favored spot where the three states join. Northfield is a town of rare historical and cultural significance. For nearly a hundred years in early New England history it was the outpost of white civilization, and here are to be found many relics of the pioneer struggle with the red man. Here, too, is the birthplace of Dwight L. Moody and the location of his three great creations: Northfield Seminary for girls, Mount Hermon School for boys, and the Northfield Summer Conferences.

Northfield will welcome the visitors this summer to its doors and hearts and trusts that here their highest hopes may be satisfied.

In the last four Presidential elections, an average of only 53 per cent of all potential voters actually cast their ballots. The men and women who fail to vote have no right to complain of the character of government thrust upon them. If they are too lazy or too indifferent to go to the polls they must accept the result. It must be remembered that those who have a selfish interest in the outcome of an election are always very careful to vote.

The Back Yard Gardener

Well, back yard garden friends, our discussion this week concerns the Acroth, which is the Mexican name for the dahlia. It really is an interesting proposition to look into the history of some of our modern flowers and then find out that they are not so modern after all. Way back about 1600 the dahlias were discovered in Mexico by some of the Spaniards, and the man who wrote about them said that there were many color forms and some with double and multiple ray florets, which indicates again that the plant isn't so modern as we might think, for double flowers are usually considered a fairly recent development.

One objection that Massachusetts people have to dahlias is that their season of bloom is not too long. In other words, they bloom just about the time the first fall frosts come. You can avoid this, however, by selecting some of the varieties which are early flowering. Jersey's Beauty, Cavalcade, Watching Sunrise, Marshall's Pink, Hillcrest Nugget, and Persimmon are some of these types.

Right now until the first of June is an excellent time to start your dahlias. In heavy soils the tuberous roots ought to be about 4 inches deep and in sandy soils down to 6 inches. Don't cover the root with more than 2 inches of soil to start with, but fill in the hole as the plant gets up. Any good garden loam will do, but it needs to be well drained.

I find that one of the most important things in producing dahlias is the idea of pruning and disbudding. Ordinarily, you see dahlias shooting up into the air. The thing to do is to cut them off just above the second node or second set of leaves when the plants are about 10 or 12 inches high. This will cause them to branch and produce more flowers. Then each of the branches may in turn be pinched off above its first node, and these in turn will produce other branches. In that way you will get a nice bushy plant which isn't too high.

As the flower buds begin to appear at the end of the stems, laterals will start to grow from the axils of the leaves. All of these except the basal pair should be rubbed out as they appear. In this way, large, long-stemmed flowers will be obtained and a sequence of bloom will be assured.

Throughout the summer cultivation should be regular in order to destroy weeds. But when the buds begin to appear, shallow cultivation should be the practice or discontinue it altogether.

Always be sure that the dahlias have plenty of water. And another good thing is to put in your stakes at planting time rather than later.

The Summer Plans For N. E. Fellowship

The New England Fellowship is an adventure in Christian unity in which members of all evangelistic groups in New England are having an active part. Among the leaders for the first conference this summer which will be held in Rumney, N. H., from June 22 to 26, are: Rev. A. Z. Conrad, D. D., pastor of Park Street Congregational church; Rev. Robert McQuilken, D. D., president of Columbia (S. C.) Bible College; Rev. Merrill L. MacPherson, D. D., pastor of the North Central Broad Presbyterian church of Philadelphia; Rev. Kenneth MacKenzie, D. D., rector emeritus of Trinity Episcopal church, Westport, Ct.; Rev. Merrill G. Tenney, M. A., assistant professor at Gordon College, and Carlton Booth of Providence Bible Institute, musical director. The first conference is for pastors and Christian workers.

Much of the fellowship's work is carried on by helpers who give their time without compensation. The officers are: J. Elwin Wright of Boston, president; Ralph E. Bailey of Rumney Depot, N. H., vice-president; Emmet Russell of Northwood, N. H., secretary; and D. Wilson Moffatt of Boston, treasurer, assisted by Kathryn M. Evans of Boston.

Cuthbert Nairn, a native of Scotland, presently in charge of the Sycamore Farms Ayrshires at Douglassville, Pa., and recognized as a leading authority and judge of Ayrshire cattle will be the principle speaker. Mr. Nairn will talk on "Using Cow-Sense in Herd Management." He will draw upon his extensive experience to demonstrate the value of knowing pedigree, using the right herd sires and the importance of development of young stock in order to build a profitable dairy herd. Mr. Nairn has had a wide experience both in Scotland and America, and has been in charge of the Sycamore Ayrshires of Mrs. E. R. Fritzsche of Douglassville, Pa., for seven years. This herd of fifty milkers has an average yield of over 10,000 pounds of 4.2 per cent milk for the past six years and ranks with the top herds of all breeds. In addition, under Mr. Nairn's charge this herd has been successfully exhibited for the past seven years at leading fairs and expositions including the Royal Winter Fair of Canada. The program will start at 10 a. m. (e. s. t.) sharp with an inspection of the Fillmore herd of over 175 milking animals, its young stock and the herd sires.
